Federal Council of Churches Urges Ministers to Ignore Precedents and Get Down to Real Relief Work, Beginning on Memorial Sunday; Government, Universities and Colleges Urge Calendar Changes.

The Federal Council of Churches has issued an appeal to all churches of America to make this Memorial Sunday the time for a message to the Christian people of all lands, and to the consideration of action to be taken by such churches immediately the war ends and reconstruction work begins. The council does not urge new relief societies, but larger support for existing ones. It declares the sums thus far contributed to be utterly inadequate to meet needs, and unworthy of Christian America. The council calls upon ministers to ignore precedents, and get down to real relief work, beginning on Memorial Sunday. It also states that the church in America must take the lead in answering the challenge which now confronts organized Christianity. On Memorial Sunday, and also on occasions of religious conventions of all kinds from now until peace is declared, the council calls upon Christian leaders to consider their parts in the constructive work which must follow during the next few years. Upon the church must fall the burden, so the council thinks, of securing the world's spiritual court or other plan which shall make wars in future impossible. The council's appeal is signed by leaders, both clergymen and laymen, in all Protestant bodies, representing at least 20,000,000 church members.

CHURCHES PLAN RAISING BIG FUND FOR ARMENIANS

Churches are entering upon a big Armenian relief plan, which relief is also to extend to Syria. Armenians who were driven out of their country by the Turks, are now following the advances of the Russian armies, and are returning to their homes. The spring season being on, help is to be given them to buy oxen in Russia, and grain for seed in America and India. Until recently the Turkish refusal to permit Armenians to forward relief, but lately they have relented, and some agencies have combined to still remaining in Turkish territory. During the past year the American board in Boston, has raised funds for Armenia, and the Presbyterian board in New York, for Persia and Syria. The total secured from America and forwarded has reached $600,000. Now these agencies have combined to form large committees have been formed, with Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders upon them. Rev. Dr. James I. Barton, of the American board, is chairman, and members include: Cardinal Gibbons for the Catholic church, Bishop Rhineland for the Episcopal church, Episcopalian, Oscar S. Strauss for Jews.

A dozen salaried men, released by the conclusion of the Laymen's Missionary Movement campaign, are to give all their time, and eight or ten more will give part time. Committees in various cities, formed for the conventions recently held, are to turn to and help churches to realize on this Armenian plan. The late ambassador in Turkey, Mr. Morgenthau, will be James P. McNaughton, who has been in Turkey for 20 years under the American board.

EPISCOPALIANS EXPECT DIFFERENCES TO BE HEALED

Such Episcopalian in position to judge, and whom it has been possible to interview since the action of the Episcopal board of missions concerning the Panama congress, express the conviction that that action will heal differences in the Episcopal church, and avert a threatened opposition mission board. The trouble arose over the policy of the Episcopal church toward other religious bodies in Latin America, and especially whether delegates should go from the Episcopal board to the Panama congress last February. Delegates were sent, and it was reported they had agreed to take part in a cooperation committee which is to continue the plans made at Panama. Such report was denied, both by the church and the committee, and the future connection between it and the Panama congress and its work in Latin America. Leaders in this work are Presbyterians, Baptists and congregationalists.

Advance information from the Episcopal board is to the effect that even with the most favorable returns a deficit of $200,000 will confront it at the close of its year this autumn.

GOVERNMENT JOINS IN MOVE TO CHANGE CALENDAR

The United States government and several universities and learned societies, through their proper officials, are said to have written to Rev. H. P. Flamm, urging action by him and others looking to the adoption, immediately after the war ends, of a new calendar. This movement is more radical, and held by many to be more important, than setting clocks forward to save daylight, and it affects vitally ecclesiastical, civil and industrial affairs. Before the war in Europe came the Swiss and English governments, in their proper departments, had taken

Kaiser Signs Himself "Papa Wilhelm" When Writing To Children

Berlin, Germany, May 27.—When the Kaiser writes to one of his numerous children he always signs himself "Papa Wilhelm," according to a little sketch just published here. The emperor sets only rough fare these days. His dinner consists of soup, meat, light dessert and a glass of beer. His bread is the so-called war bread, just what the soldiers eat. When actually at the front he gets his food directly from the army field kitchens.

The two old machines will be disposed of to a local dealer in part payment for the new ones.

POLICE JUDGE DISMISSES SEVEN VAGRANTS; FINES TWO

Of the 19 men arraigned before Judge Paul Thomas on charges of vagrancy Friday afternoon in the city's court seven were dismissed with a warning, while two were sentenced to the city jail for 15 and 30 days. The men were arrested in San Jacinto plaza Thursday evening by police officers, and confined in the city jail over night pending a hearing.

One of the men, who claimed that he was a native of Sweden, attempted to let the court know that he did not speak English, but was balked in this by his interpreter, who told Judge Thomas that the man had spoken English fluently before his arrest, and had afterward refused to speak. According to the detective, the man had told him that he came to El Paso from Globe on route to Miami, Ariz. As these two cities are but seven miles apart, the officer suspected that something was wrong, made the arrest.

SOCKS NOT OFFERED IN EVIDENCE; FIGHTERS RELEASED

Germany Stops Great Spy Conspiracy; Four Leaders Are Executed

Berlin, Germany, May 27.—A great spy trial has just been held by the field court for the district of Brussels. It has revealed widespread activity of French, English and Belgian spies behind the German front. The principal defendants were Oscar Herold, an artist of Roubaix; Frank van Aerde, an industrial draughtsman, of Antwerp; Julius Mohr, an insurance agent of Valenciennes, and Emile Gessner, a roadmaster of St. Amant. All four were convicted, condemned to death and executed. Herold, the leader of the band of spies, admitted that he had furnished important military information to the French ever since the beginning of the war and had organized a system of espionage which enabled him to send not only reports on the movements of the German troops, but also drawings and photographs of field fortifications to France. He styled himself an anarchist and said he took part in a bomb plot against a Belgian judge in 1911, but was acquitted, because the evidence against him was not sufficient.
